COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

There are many dog licenses remaining unpaid for 1967. These are far overdue and must be paid soon. The Town Clerk, Mrs. Bennett, is at home most of the time to collect these taxes.

Requests for bids on a new dump truck and pick-up will be sent out as soon as a list of specifications can be compiled. The dump truck will be a lighter model than the last three purchased as it will be used primarily for maintenance. It will be equipped with a snow plow to be utilized as a reserve vehicle. We have the plow equipment so very little will have to be purchased.

A meeting to keep in mind will be held March 25 at 7:30 p. m. in Odeon Hall. This will be a meeting for the public to obtain information on the proposed sewage disposal system. Taxpayers outside of the system could be affected considerably by the erection of this plant, therefore this meeting should be of interest to all.

BETHEL VOTERS APPROPRIATE $146,734 AT ANNUAL MEETING, MONDAY EVENING

Reject Insect Control Money; Approve Ambulance Subsidy —Smith Road Accepted

At the annual business meeting held at Odeon Hall Monday evening Bethel voters approved appropriations totalling $146,734. These exceeded by $4,285 figures recommended by the Budget Committee. These approved appropriations plus the S. A. D. 44 assessment of $202,576 and a county tax of $11,000, less $48,000 from surplus, leaves an amount of $312,310 to be raised by local taxes. It is estimated that nearly 200 interested citizens attended the annual session.

Even though the total approved for appropriation exceeded the Committee recommendations the meeting's actions resulted in the net amount to be raised by taxation being reduced by $715 from a suggested figure of $313,025. This was the result of a 71 to 67 standing vote in favor of a motion to pass over the appropriation article for insect control in the compact area. A 66-62 standing vote on the preceding article was in favor of continuing the spraying program.

Acceptance of the so-called Smith Road by the voters as a town way and maintenance automatically assumed by such action, resulted in $5,000 being taken from surplus toward construction of a bridge across Pleasant River. This action was taken by those attending the annual meeting after an explanation of the municipal officials position by Elwyn Dickey, town manager. Past work done on the road, and apparent assumption of maintenance by the town for over 30 years was cited by several interested members of the assemblage. While Mr. Dickey pointed out that no accurate estimate of the cost of a bridge was available, it was decided that a sum should be made available toward its construction.

After some discussion about the necessity of such an amount, approval was granted to appropriate $5,000 to subsidize local ambulance service. In effect this subsidy should continue ambulance service in the area at a cost to Bethel taxpayers of about 59.8 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Authorization was granted to install two additional hydrants on Paradise Road, one at the reservoir and the other at a location half way between that point and the last existing present hydrant. Approval of the article requesting $100 for rental of the hydrants was granted.

After extended discussion approval of the voters was attained to appropriate $3,000 to institute a Capital Fund to eventually finance a complete revaluation of all property in town. It was pointed out that of necessity this would be a long range program. Many expressed the belief that consideration should be given soon by the local assessors to placing a more realistic value on land inasmuch as it is still being carried on the books at 1956 prices.

— Maude Brown, Corres. —
Feb. 27: Rev. Bob Colby and Sewell Staples who has Sunday School in his home at 9:45 invites us all to come to Sunday School and church of a Sunday.

March 1: It has snowed fine snow most of the forenoon, windy too. "In like a lion out like a lamb." Snowed all afternoon too, 8-10 inches.

Friday, March 1: Knock came on the door at Francis Roberts at 10 o'clock. Mr. Buck said—call the fire department, Roger Farnum's chimney is burning out. In no time flat the fire truck and five cars were on the spot. By 11 o'clock everyone was home, bed, excepting Roger and Ed. They didn't need let the fire all out in the parlor stove.

March 4: We, your correspondent, Francis, Elaine, Steven Roberts, go to Lewiston today. The old car needs a little more tuning up. We went and had to leave the car and drove home in one of theirs. We will get it back by noon Tuesday as it costs to keep it even if one doesn't use it.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Collista Morgan, Corres. —
March certainly greeted us like a lion. The wind screamed and moaned and hurried the snow against the windows. Some of the chill was gone though. The children didn't mind and played in the school yard swept clean by the wind during the night.

The ravens of early winter seem to have vanished from the scene but I have heard the harsh cry of the crow. Some think this means spring, but not so. Each day the sun is winging higher, but some of the biggest storms have come in March. However winter is drawing to an end and Maine's deep snows will be followed by the miracle of spring. Signs are in the snow of animals and there will be others soon.

While walking on Saturday in the woods road from my house to the field I was startled by a sudden whir of wings: a number of partridges. Their tracks showed numerous places of travel. The tiny lacy tracks in a row were made by a mouse I presume. In the trees were the nuthatches ever searching up and down the trunks for insect eggs or a hibernating bug in the rough bark. The chickadees followed, hoping to get a handout of seeds as they do at "home." On my return my face tingled from the crisp air but the warmth of the sun out front spoke of the fact spring is not too far away.

The Walker boys are sending lots of pulp from the swamp. Later when it's too wet they move back of the swamp.

Our ponds were alive with ice fishermen and skidoos on Saturday. It looked like fun but I wondered sometimes if the channel would let them pass or give them a cold water bath. In some places it has a question mark as to ice safety. Some have been "in" in years passed.

We were deeply saddened to hear of the death of William Harrington in Vietnam. He grew up with our boys here and was often seen about.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mills and children of Shapleigh were callers on Saturday at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis's and had supper with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Morgan. Mr. and Mrs. Lauri Tamminen of Yarmouth were in town on Sunday and visited their uncle, Willie Yates.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt were in Norway on Saturday and on Sunday called on Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Chase, West Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hayes and son, West Paris, and Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Hayes, Auburn, visited at the Hayes Homestead on Saturday.

One morning this week a deer decided to take a walk up the main highway. He was seen by the family at the Bernard Morgan farm as he strolled calmly up the center of the road unmindful of anything around him. When he saw or heard the excitement caused by his early outing - about 6:30 a. m. - he just as calmly turned, leaped the snowbank and finished his stroll in the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Morgan called on their brother, Frank Curtis, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Curtis visited her parents in Sumner on Saturday.

Fred and Frank Curtis called to see Eddie Grafton at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Friday.

AREA SCHOOLS TO HEAR MUSIC IN MAINE STRINGS

Rumford, Dixfield, Bethel and Mexico schools will hear the splendor of strings the week of March 10 through March 18.

Mary Dobel, Sally Benson, Joseph Somogyi and Julie Keeskemethy are members of Music in Maine's String Quartet. Mrs. Dobel plays the cello, Miss Benson and Mrs. Keeskemethy play the violins and Mr. Somogyi plays the viola.

The String Quartet has been touring Maine in hopes of bringing at least two live in-school concerts to each school child in grades 2-3 this year. With the same perspective in mind, MIM, Inc. also has a Brass Quintet, a Woodwind Quintet and another String Quartet touring Maine.

Following is the schedule for the String Quartet:

Monday, March 11 at Rumford Junior High School at nine-thirty and ten-thirty in the morning and at St. John's Parish Hall in Rumford at one-thirty in the afternoon.

Tuesday, March 12 at Rumford Junior High School at nine-thirty and ten-thirty in the morning and at Dixfield Auditorium at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Wednesday, March 13 at Gould Academy in Bethel at nine-thirty and ten-thirty in the morning for students of SAD 44 elementary grades 3 through 8.

Thursday, March 14 at Mexico High School at nine-thirty and ten-thirty in the morning and at the K. of C. Hall in Mexico at one-thirty in the afternoon.

Friday, March 15 at Peru Elementary School at ten-thirty in the morning and at Dixfield Auditorium at one o'clock in the afternoon.

This is a program with cultural and educational progress for the youth of Maine in mind. Adult audiences are urged to attend these concerts to see the integral part MIM is playing in the schools. MIM Ensembles set up clinics and seminars for high school and college students as well. In the in-school concerts the young audiences are included in the program. Attention is held through question and answer periods as well as through explanations of music, composers, and instruments. MIM has created excitement and enthusiasm through Maine with its new creative project.

INSTITUTE ON THE HUMAN SCIENCES AND THE CHURCH TO BE HELD AT ORONO
Clergymen and laity of all religious denominations in the state of Maine are invited to take part in a five-day Institute on the Human Sciences and the Church at the University of Maine in Orono June 17-21.

The Institute is sponsored by the U. of M.'s Continuing Education Division in cooperation with the Maine Council of Churches, the Methodist Church of Maine, the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Maine, the Roman Catholic Diocese of Maine, the United Baptist Convention of Maine, and the United Ministries in Higher Education which includes the United Presbyterian Church.

Edward W. Hackett, Jr., Orono, center director for CED and coordinator for the Institute, said the program should provide an only in a systematic plan of providing pedestrian lighting along continuous routes or to illuminate intersections of public roads and streets. The approved policy states that the town shall not provide street lights or yard lighting for private individuals or businesses.

A proposal to install a street light at the intersection of the Northwest Bethel Road and Route 2 was approved. A motion to pass over the article requesting a light at the Red Lantern in Skillings-ton was carried.

After the perennial questions about the need for the Bethel Airport two articles concerning it were approved. The articles provided for an appropriation of $500 plus airplane excise tax, and the carrying forward of an unexpended balance of $1,013.84.

Matching funds of up to $1,000 were approved for the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce, as was the appropriation of $200 for village Christmas lighting.

The sum of $800 was approved for the Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety Program for the children of the town.

In other cases the recommendations of the Budget Committee and the selectmen were followed, but not without question in many instances.

EMERSON HILL ACCIDENT
Two cars were in collision on Emerson Hill, Route 2, near Newry Corner, last Friday afternoon. A station wagon owned by Albert C. Smith, West Bethel, and operated by his daughter, Sandra Smith, was damaged extensively. The second car, driven by Robert Kennison of Essex Center, Vt., was damaged about the front end. Road conditions were probable cause of the accident. No injuries to occupants of either were reported following the incident.

IN AND ABOUT BETHEL
Mrs. Ernest Perkins has been confined this week with the flu. Sgt. Gilbert O. Bailey, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey of RFD 1, Bethel, has been recognized for helping his unit earn the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award. A vehicle operator in the 60th Military Airlift Wing of the Military Airlift Command (MAC) at Travis AFB, Calif., he will wear a distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration. opportunity for clergymen to learn from college and university people themselves what is stirring on the campus in the way of new knowledge and its impact upon society.

The Old Timer
"Postage will be so high, when they come around for taxes I'm gonna tell them: I'm sorry. I gave at the post office!"

As to bridge construction on this road I would suggest that Bethel hesitate to undertake it alone. Participating with the State, in 1960, Gilead, within the provisions for bridges in the Town Road Improvement program, contributed to the Twitchell Brook Bridge—a comparable one. The State built it and maintains it. The bidding was tight that year, as the three lowest bidders were only $141 apart. The total cost was some $16,700, including the State surveys and paved approaches. If a similar bridge was to be built now the cost would probably approach $20,000, of which I imagine Bethel's share would be about $10,000. Any question thus as to the adequacy of the bridge or its adequacy would forever be laid to rest. At the same time, and in this light, it might be advisable to consider a new bridge over Chapman Brook, on the North-west Bethel road. It has been a troublesome facility at best, in the past, and bears a great deal more traffic, both heavy and otherwise.

In passing one may observe a possible misunderstanding with respect to the role of the County Commissioners in this controversy. It was alleged that the commissioners claimed they had jurisdiction over any way leading from one town to another. That is true, provided, of course, the way has been formally laid out or used adversely by the public for the required length of time. But they do not have jurisdiction over a wholly private way whether or not it leads from one town to another. Some 20 years ago, this notion was entertained rather informally by the Brown Co., as I have a road that leads from Gilead to Bethel to Newry to Riley Pl.—all within a relatively small area. But it is not under county jurisdiction.

Finally, with respect to the survey undertaken by the Town in running the Bethel-Mason line, I would mention that this line was run in 1960 by Earl Sylvester, a wholly qualified professional Brown Co. surveyor. At the same time Mr. Sylvester ran the Bethel-Gilead-Newry town lines in the area where the towns converge. The said towns and the County participated in the expense of this endeavor. I do not understand why the present line

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

To the Editor:

With respect to the "Smith Road", so-called, the subject of discussion and speculation in last Monday's Town Meeting, the following observations may be of interest to some of your readers.

Whether or not the said road was laid out in the past by town or county officials within the formalities prescribed by Maine laws, the fact remains that Bethel has treated it as a town way. Under the doctrine of user, or adverse use, authority to continue it as a town way may hardly be challenged until such time as county officials upon petition, notice, and hearing close said way, as prescribed by Maine law. It seems to me the authority of Town Officers to expend public money upon that portion of the way within Bethel limits is clear.

It is regrettable, although understandable, that town officials felt obliged to endure frustration and expense in such an inconsequential matter. Had any party in interest (taxpayer) been upset enough to challenge the town by legal action, any recovery by him, on the one hand, would have been nearly impossible, and, on the other, if successful, would have been a mere token. It is well settled that recovery upon a taxpayer's suit successfully challenging a municipal authority for expenditures of public funds is limited to that percentage of his whole tax (plus interest) that his whole tax would bear to any sum spent without authority. More plainly, if a man paying a $300 tax objects to a sum of $5,000 spent on a questionable road, and Bethel's Roads & Bridges appropriation is $20,000, while its whole tax commitment is $300,000, then that man may recover, if his suit is successful, no more than 1/15th of his tax, or the sum of $5,000 plus 25% interest or a total of $6,250. Not much of an inducement for however righteous a citizen coupled with a practically non-existent chance for recovery anyway! On the other hand, whether or not the action taken by the Town in this matter had legal effect, the municipal officers are to be commended for their efforts to determine the sense of the public will. The controversy over the Smith Road seems to have been resolved and should serve as a precedent for any other town way that may be questioned in the future.

As to bridge construction on this road I would suggest that Bethel hesitate to undertake it alone. Participating with the State, in 1960, Gilead, within the provisions for bridges in the Town Road Improvement program, contributed to the Twitchell Brook Bridge—a comparable one. To the Editor:

The lyrical raptures inspired by "my hill beyond the pond as I work" and so vividly depicted by Mrs. Collista Morgan, your Greenwood City, correspondent in the Feb. 29, 1968 issue of the Bethel Citizen, can hardly pass unnoticed. The idea that a housewife, who is "usually doing breakfast dishes" "at six in the morning", has the time, inspiration and inclination to describe the exciting winter scene which she observes daily from her kitchen window, is truly enchanting. The incongruity of the setting—the kitchen sink and the sentiments—"I never tire of the beauty of the hills and trees, especially the pines, my favorites." The "pine music" is readily distinguishable and the pines are impressive as the lights and shadows fall upon them. "To me they are truly a thing of beauty." Their branches are sky-loving, outspread reaching toward the heavens. Like two cathedral towers, these stately pines uplift their fretted summits tipped with cones (Longfellow)—the incongruity I repeat is impressive.

I am confident that Mrs. Morgan does not find her early morning tasks burdensome. The lift of her "whispering pines" provides enough gratification, enjoyment and inspiration to overcome any boredom that may be inherent in the activity. There is a significant lesson in this experience namely, that one needn't look too far for the manifold beauties of his world. They lie in and around us if we but had Mrs. Morgan's powers to recognize them. As a correspondent she appears to be a star of the horizon. We can only hope that she will devote her talents to the composition of columns similar to the one of Feb. 29th rather than limit herself to the daily doings of her neighbors. Don't fail us Mrs. Morgan. On Feb. 29, 1968 you introduced a new dimension into your weekly column in the Bethel Citizen. "Doing the breakfast dishes" in Greenwood City, Maine, can never be the same again, so long as "your hill beyond the pond" endures.

Sincerely yours,
Mark E. Cymrot

There is little I can tell you about the world situation, particularly in Vietnam, that you do not already know. There are a few facts relating to our young men and women in uniform I am sure will interest you.

Today we have more than 3,700,000 young men and women in military service. Approximately 17,660 of them are from Maine; over 300 from Bethel, Bryant Pond, Locke Mills, Rumford, Andover, Newry, Gilead. They are making certain that we at home can continue to enjoy freedom. At the same time, America is attempting to guarantee to other nations an opportunity to form a government of their own choosing. Not everybody agrees on how this should be done but on one thing we are unanimous, our young men and women in military, wherever they are stationed, cannot be forgotten, they must know we care.

USO does just that. In Vietnam there are 17 USO clubs, one in Taiwan and two in Thailand, and now USO has initiated a live entertainment program of eight units who each month visit hospitals all over the world to which our American troops wounded in Vietnam are taken.

The cost of doing this is great and USO receives no governmental financial aid, its funds come from United Fund and Community Chests. USO needs the support of the areas which do not have these, and in Maine over half of the population lives in such areas. I feel sure you will want to accept your share in supporting our men and women in military service.

Your check, as generous as your heart dictates, will let our military personnel know they are not forgotten; that we care. Make out a check today, payable to United Service Organizations, Inc., and send to Mr. Earlon (Bud) Falne, USO treasurer for this area.

Sincerely,
Harold F. Clukey
SOMEONE YOU KNOW NEEDS USO

between Mason and Bethel, therefore, would be an "assumed" line, or why, in fact, there would be this duplication of effort. By Mr. Sylvester's line there were no deviations from the long-established monuments and markers.

visits Gould to demonstrate for Art III students — Gerry Williams, Dunbarton, N. H., famous potter, who will hold a workshop for the ceramics class at Gould Academy on March 9.

Born in India in 1926, Mr. Williams' parents were educational missionaries. He spent his boyhood there, going to school in Darjeeling and to High School in Missouri. In 1943 he came to America and attended Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa. During the war he was drafted and spent some time working in hospitals. A desire to study pottery after the war led him to New Hampshire in 1949 where he enrolled in the craft program offered by the League of New Hampshire Arts and Crafts. After a year of apprenticeship at the John Butler Pottery, he became an independent craftsman. For the last 16 years he has been a professional potter, and now lives and works at his own studio in Dunbarton, N. H., where he and his wife and children built their own home.

Panelists at the session included: Joseph I. Caldwell, assistant headmaster, The Cate School, Carpinteria, Calif.; Dren Geer, Principal, Newton South High School, Newton, Mass.; Dr. Thomas Molnar, Associate Professor of French Literature, Brooklyn College, N. FAST-DECOMPOSING INSECTICIDES BEING TESTED ON NORTHEAST FORESTS

United States Forest Service entomologists are testing the effectiveness of new, fast-decomposing insecticides against troublesome insects in the Northeast, according to David Ketcham, Assistant Director in Charge of Forest Pest Control, Northeastern Area, State and Private Forestry. Last summer, a pilot test of a little-known chemical called Zectran was conducted in northern Maine against the spruce budworm. The test was a cooperative effort with the U. S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, the Maine Fish and Wildlife Service, and the Maine Forest Service.

When applied in the prescribed amount per acre, Zectran kills certain leaf-feeding types of insects and breaks down so rapidly that it becomes completely harmless to all forms of life within a few hours. Because the material must come in contact with the insect, it is extremely important that the chemical be applied when the insect is exposed. In the specific case of the spruce budworm, it is necessary to be certain that the caterpillars have left secluded feeding places before spraying.

The Zectran test reduced the budworm population 82 per cent. Although these results did not meet the requirements for satisfactory control, they did demonstrate the potential of Zectran. Additional studies are needed to provide more information on the operational characteristics of the chemical when applied in low volumes under field conditions.

To complement this search for a satisfactory substitute for DDT, the same cooperating agencies plan to test another material, Sumithion, during the summer of 1968 in northern Maine. Sumithion has already been tested in Canada. Like Zectran, it decomposes quite rapidly, but it must be critically tested to determine proper dosage rates, effectiveness, application methods, and environmental effects.

The spruce budworm, a serious forest pest, must be controlled because much of the nation's future wood supply, as well as other forest values, is at stake. The important task is to develop satisfactory means of controlling this and other destructive pests without endangering the environment.
